POISONED THIRTY ONE

Startling Revelations in the Toppan Case Today at Boston.

Coal Mine Operators Held Responsible in Coroner's Jury Verdict.

A SHOT FROM DEM. CHAIRMAN

HAS POISONED THIRTY-ONE.

Boston, Mass., June 24.—The most sensational confession ever made by a person charged in this state with murder has just been made by Miss Jane Toppan, whose trial for the murder of Mrs. Maud D. Gibbs was finished at Barnstable yesterday. She was found not guilty by reason of being insane, but the jury ordered her confined in the Taunton Asylum for the insane for life.

The defendant has also been charged with the murder of Alden P. Davis and Mrs. G. D. Gordon at Cataumet, whose deaths occurred within a short time of each other, and has been charged with numerous other crimes.

Today the prisoner made a confession to her senior counsel that she has killed in all thirty-one patients who were under her charge as nurse.

HOLDS OWNERS RESPONSIBLE.

Coal Creek, Tenn., June 24.—The Coroner's jury, which has been investigating the cause of the Fraterville mine explosion May 19 reached a verdict at a late hour last night, and the finding is against the Coal Creek Coal company officials, owner of the mine, and against the state mine inspector, R. A. Shifflett.

HOT ONE FOR BRYAN AND CLEVELAND.

Washington, June 24.—Representative Griggs, chairman of the Democratic National campaign committee, says of the Bryan-Cleveland controversy: "It is a fight of has-beens. Cleveland cannot hope to bring the great body of Democrats to his position. Bryan cannot expect to hold them with him. What we want to hear from are 'is-ers,' not 'has-beens.'"

FREED AT THE ALTAR

COLLIERVILLE YOUNG MAN RELEASED FROM PROMISE TO WED THAT HE MIGHT MARRY ANOTHER.

Binghamton, N. Y., June 24.—A sensation was caused here Saturday when it was announced that the wedding of Miss Florence Shafer, a society leader of Sharon, N. Y., has been indefinitely postponed, and the groom quietly wedded to Miss Carrie Olmstead.

The groom was Wesley D. Empey of Collierville, Tenn., and he had promised to marry Miss Shafer, invitations having been issued for an elaborate wedding. Meanwhile he met and fell in love with Miss Olmstead, and on the day set for his wedding with Miss Shafer made full confession to her. She at once freed him from his promise, despite the fact that guests were arriving, and he was that day married to Miss Olmstead with the best wishes of the other young lady.

BURIAL IN GRAVES.

Lela, the seventeen-days-old daughter of Motorman R. R. Groves, died last night at the family residence on Madison street, and the remains will be buried in Graves county tomorrow.

WAS MOST GORGEOUS

Many People Witnessed the "Last Days of Pompeii" Last Night.

No Spectacle So Grand Ever Seen Before in the Entire State—Unequalled Fireworks.

A PRODUCTION EVERY NIGHT.

The most magnificent spectacular production ever witnessed in Kentucky is undoubtedly Pain's "Last Days of Pompeii," which was given for the first time last night at Sixteenth and Monroe streets to over 1,000 people. The stupendous affair is something that people who have never seen anything of the kind cannot comprehend until they witness it. Hundreds went there last night with no adequate idea of the gigantic proportions of the display. They were amazed as well as entertained, and many were heard to declare that they intended going every night.

The great spectacle of "Last Days of Pompeii" is one of Pain's great successes. He has produced it for twelve years, and now has six companies on the road, doing an enormous business. It requires hundreds of men of technical, artistic and histrionic ability to properly put them on, and the result is most entrancing.

The entrance to the big affair is gorgeous. The canvas walls have no cover, and the seats are arranged similar to those of a circus amphitheater. In full view of the vast expanse of seats is an excellent reproduction of the ancient city of Pompeii as it looked before the historic eruption of Vesuvius destroyed it. In the background looms up the ominous volcano that constantly smokes. An excellent likeness of the Parthenon makes a stage on which the various exhibitions are given.

The company carries a host of people but added to these are scores of supernumeraries, who are attired for the occasion in the costumes of the times, and form a brilliant and impressive spectacle as they march about on "rete day."

The golden calf, or "town cow" as some of them jocularly put it, is familiar in the foreground. The soldiers, gladiators, dancing girls and others make an extremely pretty sight as they march about to the specially arranged music. There are legions of them, and they form a continuous stream for some little time before the festivities at the ill fated city begin.

Following the various marches, dances and ceremonies, typical of the times represented, a high class performance of some of the most noted acrobats and dancers of the country is given. The work is very clever. It is the best that can be secured and the feats were in most instances novel as well as unexcelled to Paducahans.

Among the beautiful and magnificent features are the "Fire Dance of Isis," the "Golden Pony Ballet," the "Roman Youth Ballet" and a dance by a number of Greek slaves.

The costuming is rich and correct, and every piece from the garb of the humble fan bearer to the gorgeous raiment of Arabes is entirely new and cost all told, a small fortune.

At the conclusion of this, the eruption of the threatening Vesuvius takes place, and amid the roar of the explosions, the fire, smoke and fiery lava, the spectators see the walls crumble and the shrieking, terror-stricken natives flee to their deaths. It is a spectacle that thrills and awes, and its like has never been witnessed in anything ever given in the state. The display of fireworks that follows the eruption is the most brilliant and extensive ever seen, and includes everything known to experts in pyrotechnics. It lasts fully half an hour, and the set scenes are especially beautiful.

Preceding the performance proper Professor Stephens, under the direction of Prof. Price, the noted aeronaut who is celebrated the world over, and is an airship expert as well, makes a balloon ascension as the "human bomb," being concealed in an oval sack suspended from the balloon,

THE CORONATION IS POSTPONED

King Edward Is Operated on and London Is in a Ferment.

London, June 24.—The coronation, which was to have taken place Thursday has been indefinitely postponed because of the serious illness of King Edward. It is officially announced that the king is suffering from perityphlitis, an inflammation of the intestine.

It is privately admitted that his condition is more serious than has been admitted by the medical bulletin issued shortly after noon.

An operation was successfully performed on the king at 2 o'clock, and it was announced afterward that the patient was asleep.

At 2:45 the following bulletin was issued:

"Operation has been successfully performed. Large abscess has been evacuated. The king has borne the operation well, and is in a satisfactory condition."

There is the wildest excitement over the unexpected turn events have taken, and many are wagering that the coronation will never take place. The most startling rumors have been started as a result of the king's sudden illness, which came close onto his dinner last night at Buckingham palace to seventy royal personages, who practically represented the sovereigns of all monarchs of the world.

The list of their majesties' guests was headed by the czar and wife of Russia, who arrived in London yesterday and included an imposing array of princes and princesses and all the members of the British royal family.

The dinner was followed by a brilliant reception which was attended by the members of the suites of all foreign potentates in London.

Joseph Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, and Mrs. Chamberlain, who was Miss Mary Endicott of Massachusetts, received the colonial premiers and other distinguished visitors from Great Britain's colonies at their London residence this evening.

A full and strictly private rehearsal of the coronation ceremonies took place there yesterday in which everybody, with the exception of the royal personages and the participants in the musical and religious features of the functions, rehearsed their respective duties. The archbishop of Canterbury, the Rev. Frederick Temple and the lord chancellor, the earl of Halsbury, were among those who were drilled in their parts under the superintendency of the Duke of Norfolk, the earl marshal.

IS HARD AT WORK

Congressman Charles K. Wheeler Will Do all Possible.

Is Now Conferring Relative to Paducah's Harbor.

The Commercial club this afternoon received from Congressman Charles K. Wheeler the following telegram:

"I am conferring with Burton, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, and McKinzie, chief engineer for the United States, about the harbor at Paducah. If anything can be done, will attend to it."

This is a result of another of the periodic agitations about Paducah's noted ice harbor being destroyed by the current of the river lopping off the end of Owen's Island and the tow-head. For several years this matter has repeatedly been brought to the attention of the authorities, but thus far nothing has been done. The only thing that can be done now is for congress to make an emergency appropriation.

FILED A PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY.

Oscar E. Brawner, a railroad brakeman, of the city, this afternoon filed a petition in bankruptcy, giving liabilities to the amount of $208, with no assets.

THRESHER BLEW UP

And Killed William Watts, of Mayfield.

His Brother Supposed to Be Here But Could Not Be Located.

Last night a telephone message was received here from Mayfield inquiring for Robert Watts of that city, who was supposed to be here to see the Pompeii show. Watts came here from Mayfield yesterday at noon and soon after his departure a telegram was received by his people at Mayfield stating that his brother, William W. Watts, had been killed in Charleston, Mo., by the blowing up of a threshing machine. Watts was an engineer by trade and had been working about Charleston for some time.

No further information was given and last night it was impossible to locate Robert Watts here. The unfortunate man had prominent relatives in Mayfield.

WALKED FROM ARKANSAS.

George Washington Wise, who is about four feet tall, can hardly see and is 50 years old, applied to the mayor this afternoon for aid. He claims he walked here from Arkansas.

Mr. V. P. Barriek left at noon today for St. Mary, Va., to visit his mother.

THE NEW TEACHERS

Prof. C. B. Hatfield Re-elected Superintendent of the City Schools.

Only a Few Teachers Failed of Re-election—Miss Brazelton Succeeds Miss Dodson.

SEVERAL NEW MEMBERS

The board of education held its annual caucus last night at the high school building for the purposes of selecting teachers for the ensuing year.

While the result is equivalent to an election, the board meets in regular session this evening to formally ratify the selection made last night.

The teachers selected are:

White—C. B. Hatfield, superintendent; C. A. Norrell, principal of high school; Miss Emma I. Morgan, principal of Jefferson school; Miss Ada L. Brazelton, assistant principal of High school; Miss Mamie Noble, teacher in High school; Prof. J. E. Snider, principal of Longfellow school; Miss Ellen Willis, Miss Katie White, Miss Lora C. Brandon, Miss Ella Larkin, Miss Lillie Cook, Miss Lizzie Singleton, Miss Susanna Kirk, teacher in High school; Prof. J. T. Ross, principal of Lee school; Miss Beulah Young, Miss Mary O. Murray, Miss Lizzie A. Mohan, Miss Minnie Parker, Miss Cora Hailey, Miss Ethel Mitchell, Miss Flora Davidson, Miss Clara Moore, Miss Hannah Bonds, Miss Iona Desha, Mrs. M. Herndon, Miss Sue Atchison, principal Langstaff school; Mrs. F. Taylor, Miss Emma Grigsby, Prof. A. M. Rouse, principal of Franklin school; Miss Emma Acker, Miss Ellen Torian, Miss Mabel Durick, Miss Bessie Sinclair, Miss Mabel Roberts, Miss Elizabeth Rogers, Mrs. Cora A. Ellis, Mrs. L. Singleton, Miss Addie Byrd, Miss Hattie Sherwin, Miss Flora McKee, Miss Lillie Morrison, Miss Lizzie Chapeze, Miss Laura Hand, Miss Jessie A. Byrd, Miss Rose Flournoy, Miss Lillie Burdine, Miss Bertha Ketter, Miss Mabel Mitchell, Miss Laura Thomas, Miss Johnnie Cayce, Miss Ellen Donigan.

Miss Lucy Scott of the city was elected substitute for the grammar grades. She recently graduated in Mississippi.

Colored—E. W. Benton, principal Lincoln school; T. D. Hibbs, principal Garfield schools; grammar and primary teachers; Isaac Nuckolls, J. L. Hamilton, Sallie Lowery, Lula G. Benton, J. F. Porter, Thomas Lawrence, M. V. Pier on, G. W. Harvey, Mary Overbey, Ida Baker, Pauline H. Myers, Laura C. Hibbs, Ophelia Brown. Mary Lawrence was elected a substitute.

The teachers will be assigned before the fall term begins.

The following teachers were not re-elected: Miss Cynthia Ewell, Mrs. May Riecke and Mrs. Ellen Wilcox.

The following new teachers were elected to fill the vacancies: Miss Lora Brandon, city, one of the graduates of this year; Lillie Cook, of the city, formerly of Marion, Ky.; Mrs. Cora A. Ellis, of the city and Miss Laura Thomas, of the city.

Prof. Snider's election will not be binding in case he is elected superintendent of the Hopkinsville schools.

Mrs. Katie Dorian received a very complimentary vote for assistant High school teacher.

KICKED BY A MULE

CHRISTIAN COUNTY BOY IN A PRECARIOUS CONDITION.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 24.—The thirteen-year-old son of William Brodie, of Lafayette, was kicked by a mule, and is in a precarious condition. Young Brodie, about two weeks ago, shot John Brewer, aged ten, through the brain, but he will recover. The shooting was accidental.

SMITHLAND PEOPLE MARRY.

F. M. Harp of Smithland, aged 22, a farmer, and Blanche Neel of Smithland, aged 23, were this morning licensed to wed. It will make the first marriage of both.

THE POLICE BOARD

Appointment Not to be Made for Two or More Weeks by the Mayor.

The Names of Probable Members are Given—Are Good Jobs.

WILL BE STRONG YEISER MEN.

The ordinance providing for the appointment of a board of fire and police commissioners under the second class charter has not yet been given final passage in both boards, and it will perhaps be two weeks before it is a law, but there is much speculation as to the prospective members of the board, who while they nominally have the appointment of all police and station men, will in reality be more figureheads to do the bidding of the mayor.

The positions pay but a small amount a year, about $50, but they are much sought after in second class cities, because of the patronage ostensibly at the disposal of the members.

It is not announced who will be appointed, but it is given out from a reliable source that those at present scheduled for the places are Messrs. R. R. Sutherland, M. W. Clark, Pete Rogers and Dr. John Bonds.

They are all staunch Yeiser men, and Mr. Clark is a former councilman, and Mr. Sutherland a former policeman under Mayor Yeiser's previous administration. It has been given out officially that Mr. Bonds will be one of the members of the board, but The Sun gives the first publication of the names of the other probable members.

RICH VEIN

Lead Discovered in Paying Quantities Near Salem.

Paducah Capitalists Are Interested in the Mine.

Mr. Mat Rawls, of the city who owns stock in the Marion Zinc Co., has been notified that the operators have struck a rich vein of lead and fluor spar and think that it will be mined in paying quantities. Mr. Rawls and Mr. George O. Wallace are the only Paducah people interested in this mine. The new vein discovered is between Salem and Dycusburg, Crittenden county.

INSPECTOR OF BRIDGES HERE.

MR. O. J. TRAVIS OF CHICAGO VISITING IN THE CITY TODAY.

Mr. O. J. Travis of Chicago, inspector of bridges of the entire Illinois Central system, is at the Palmer, and is making trip to inspect Cumberland and Tennessee rivers. He is one of the best men connected with the road, and his position is one of great importance.

NOT SETTLED YET.

A MEETING OF LEATHERWORKERS AND STOCKHOLDERS TODAY.

The Rehkopf strike remains unsettled and today the leatherworkers' committee will meet the stockholders and officers of the company and attempt to effect a settlement with them, all efforts towards that end with Mr. Rehkopf having failed. The harness men have been out now for more than a week and are anxious to have the matter settled.

DUELISTS INTERRUPTED

OFFICERS, WARNED BY THE WOMAN IN THE CASE, APPEAR IN THE NICK OF TIME.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 24—One of the most sensational instances of modern chivalry which has come to light in many days was that which occurred in this city Sunday at daybreak between two of the most prominent young men in town, when they met in a secluded spot to fight to the death a duel for the hand of Miss Florence E. Fair, one of the young belles of the season. The parties concerned in the affair, over which every possible effort for secrecy had been observed, are the young lady named, Prof. Frank Nelson, organist at St. John's church; James Chaslyn Smith, a prominent lawyer; Ralph Hommel and Alonzo Cain, both popular young men socially, the latter two acting as seconds.

Miss Fair is a music pupil of Prof. Nelson. Both he and Attorney Smith are rivals for her favor. Saturday she was promenading Gay street with the latter, when they were approached by Nelson, who made some cutting remark to Smith, the latter taking it so to heart that he finally wrote a formal challenge to Nelson. The latter accepted and seconds were chosen, Ralph Hommel for Nelson and Alonzo Cain for Smith. A secluded spot in the cedars at Magnolia park was the site selected. Dr. C. J. St. John was summoned for medical aid.

In closed hacks they drove to the scene about 4 o'clock. The men had taken positions on the field, ten paces apart, and their revolvers were raised, when a patrol wagon full of policemen and specials rushed to the scene. They had been warned by Miss Fair.

ROOF GARDEN.

CAPT. FOWLER'S COSY CORNER IS NOW COMPLETE.

Captain Joe Fowler's cosy corner, back of his office, jutting out towards the river, is now complete and handsomely furnished. He calls it his "roof garden," and is very proud of it. It is equipped with every convenience and commands a fine view of the river. It is destined to become very popular with those habitués of "Monkey Wrench Corner" who are fortunate enough to have access to it.

ELECTRIC TRAINS WRECKED.

Milan, June 24—Owing to a station master's mistake, two electric trains on the light railway from Varese to Port Ceresio were utterly wrecked in a collision. Forty-nine persons were killed or injured. The station master has fled to Switzerland.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

Thirty-six railroads reporting for the second week of June show aggregate earnings of $6,865,018, a gain of $425,826, or 6.61 per cent.

ORGANIZATION

DISCOURAGED

WESTERN UNION MEN DISCHARGED FOR AIDING THE PROPOSED UNION.

Chicago, Ill., June 24—The Western Union Telegraph company has opened a campaign in Chicago against the organization of its telegraphers. Nine men were discharged by Chief Operator Louis K. Whitcomb, without reason being assigned for their removal. The dropping of the men was announced today at a meeting of the commercial telegraphers, while they were perfecting the organization of their union. Two of the discharged men said they asked Mr. Whitcomb why they had been dismissed.

"I guess if you will search your brain you'll find out," was the reply they say they received.

The discharged men are reported good operators, attentive to business and capable of filling the most responsible positions. Seven of them immediately went to work for the Postal Telegraph company. The other two will be given work organizing the commercial operators, and any others who are discharged also will be put in the field.

GOOD SHOOTING.

THE RAILROAD GUN CLUB HELD ITS REGULAR SHOOT YESTERDAY.

The Railroad Gun club held its regular weekly shoot yesterday afternoon. The fine gun was won by Mr. Ben Starr, who broke fourteen out of fifteen. The score in that event was: Tapscott, 7; Mercer, 13; Moses, 13; Brown, 13; Baker, 12; Ben Starr, 14; Warner, 11; Robertson, 9; Davis, 12; Brecks, 11; Seitz, 7; Armstrong, 11; Davis, 10; Ben Starr, 10; Robertson, 11; Tapscott, 6; Moses Starr, 13; Brown, 8; Eaker, 9; Robertson, 10.

Three matches were shot by teams organized from members of the railroad and the Paducah Gun clubs, resulting in the Paducah Gun club's team winning two out of three. The scores were: Railroad club—Moses Starr, 10 out of 10; Mercer, 8; Tapscott, 7; Armstrong, 9; Warner, 4; total, 38.

Paducah club—Ben Starr, 6; Davis, 6; Brown, 9; Wilkins, 5; Robertson, 7; total, 33.

Next match was, railroad club—Moses Starr, 9; Mercer, 5; Tapscott, 9; Armstrong, 8; Warner, 4; total, 35.

Paducah club—Ben Starr, 7; Davis, 5; Brown, 7; Wilkins, 10; Robertson, 9; total, 38.

Last match, Railroad club—Starr, 9; Mercer, 8; Tapscott, 6; Armstrong, 8; Baker, 3; total, 34.

Paducah club—Robertson, 9; Starr, 7; Rouse, 9; Wilkins, 8; Rivers, 6; total, 39.

FOR WIFE BEATING.

William McClure of Smithland will be tried by Judge Evans at that place today for beating his wife. It is claimed that he became offended because she filed suit against him for divorce, and gave her a beating for it.

THE TEST THAT TELLS

YOU CAN GET ALL THE CONVINCING PROOF YOU WANT BY READING PADUCAH PAPERS.

When the reader wants any article of value he naturally prefers to deal with some one he can depend upon.

If mixed up in any law suit, a good, responsible lawyer is generally the first necessity sought.

If lost on a prairie, directions from a settler could be relied upon; those from a stranger would be doubted.

The test that tells the tale of merit is the test of friends and neighbors.

Paducah people endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

Can you ask for better evidence?

Read this case:

Mr. T. G. Elder of 1801 Monroe street, carpenter at Illinois Central railroad, says: "A friend of mine who had procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Du Bois and Co.'s drug store and used them in his family recommended them so highly that I gave a little girl of ours, ten years of age, a course of the treatment. We have given her so much medicine for kidney weakness that she absolutely refused to take anything, but finally coaxing succeeded. Before she completed two boxes we stopped using the remedy because she no longer required it."

SWAM FOR HIS PANAMA

ST. LOUIS MAN TAKES A COLD PLUNGE BATH AT LOUISVILLE.

Louisville, Ky., June 24—Henry Sturgeon, a young man from St. Louis, risked his life to save his Panama hat. A cold plunge in the Ohio had no terrors for him. The pleadings of a pretty girl were unheeded. The terrors of cold or pneumonia were not among those of the young man when he boldly swam after the costly head covering. A shout went up from those on the bank. The girl danced and clapped her hands as the young man, with the hat between his teeth landed on shore, after a terrific struggle.

Sturgeon was happy when he again reached ground, but his flannel suit was far from neat, and hung in folds. "Oh, don't worry about these," said Sturgeon, as he looked at himself, "the hat represents fifteen plunks and the suit only stood me $5."

Sturgeon allowed the sun to shine upon him for an hour, and then he and the girl boarded a car for New Albany.

POLICE COURT

ONLY A FEW OFFENDERS BEFORE JUDGE SANDERS TODAY.

Judge Sanders held a brief session of police court this morning and the following business was transacted:

Mike Haffer, white, was fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

The breach of the peace case against J. T. Durham and Tom Ross was left open after a partial hearing of the evidence.

Pete Griffin was arraigned for a breach of the peace and the case continued.

Arthur Dunn was fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

Charles Johnson, colored, who escaped from the chain gang, was re-arrested and sentenced to serve out the remainder of his term on the chain gang at hard work.

Donie Jones, colored, was fined $1 and costs for drunkenness.

TAX ON BABIES.

Extreme hot weather is a great tax upon the digestive power of babies; when puny and feeble they should be given a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the children's tonic. BRILLIANT RECORD OF A NEWSPAPER MAN.

The success which has attended William E. Curtis, the famous correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald, is rarely attained by newspaper writers. Beginning his career in Chicago in 1872 as reporter he rapidly rose to the position of managing editor. He resigned that position on receiving a government appointment as secretary of the South American commission. Mr. Curtis traveled extensively in Central and South America while in this position, producing several popular volumes as the result of his literary labors. Afterward co-operating with Secretary of State James G. Blaine, Mr. Curtis organized the work of the bureau of American republics, with the result that he was placed in charge of that organization, and at the time of the World's Columbian Exposition he distinguished himself by his labors as the executive head of the Latin-American department. As correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald Mr. Curtis' travels have carried him into every section of the United States, as well as into all quarters of the globe. His China and Japan letters were published in book form; likewise his letters from England, Germany, and France, as well as those written during his travels in Mexico and South America.

No newspaper correspondent possesses the facility shown by Mr. Curtis in writing on any of the diversified subjects embraced in his correspondence and making it luminous. Nor is any correspondent followed so closely year after year by the thousands of readers of the Chicago Record-Herald. On his recent trip to the Holy Land Mr. Curtis' letters have been read more closely than ever, and his descriptions of that interesting section of the globe as it appears today have been quoted everywhere.

A daily letter from Mr. Curtis appears in the Chicago Record-Herald.

HOT WEATHER WEAKNESS.

If you feel fagged out, listless and lacking in energy, you are perhaps suffering from the debilitating effects of summer weather. These symptoms indicate that a tonic is needed that will create a healthy appetite, make digestion perfect, regulate the bowels and impart natural activity to the liver. This Herbine will do; it is a tonic, laxative and restorative. H. J. Freegar, Propr. Grand View Hotel, Cheney, Kansas, writes: "I have used Herbine for the last 12 years, and nothing on earth can beat it. It was recommended to me by Dr. Newton, Newton, Kansas." 50c at DuBois, Kolb and Co.

THE DULL SEASON....

To the hustling merchant this is an unknown expression. When his competitors are complaining he is going over his old stock, preparing for a campaign of cleaning out—planning for the coming season. He never allows things to get "dull." At this season of the year he puts on his clearance sales—puts prices on his goods that will clean them out and thereby adds to his supply of cash with which to begin his fall campaign.

By the judicious use of newspaper space he clears out his odds and ends, moves the slow-selling goods and prepares his shelves for his incoming stock.

Pell, Observer.

Captain H. Baker is on the sick list today.

The Charleston will leave this afternoon late for Tennessee river.

The Dick Fowler was an hour late out of Paducah this morning.

The Tenbroeck will go on the docks soon for general repairs and also will the Wilford.

The I. N. Hook is awaiting orders to make a trip either up the Tennessee or Ohio.

The Mary Stewart left at noon for Golconda on her return trip. She arrived yesterday.

The John S. Hopkins arrived late for Evansville and departed about noon on her return trip.

The Catherine Davis passed up yesterday afternoon to do some government work on the Ohio.

The Pavonia went up the Ohio river this morning to pick up several barges of ties for the Ayer and Lord people.

The John W. Ailes, which exploded her boilers some time ago, is being rebuilt at Elizabeth, and will be called Haven.

There are over half a dozen towboats laying up at the island. There is little to do now and the rivers are so low that towing is very difficult.

The William Towle will come off the dry docks this afternoon and it will require several more days to finish the smaller repairs and put the paint on.

The towboat people are taking advantage of the present dull season to repair their crafts and the mills are doing a good sundry business with the boat people.

The Monongahela River Coal and Coke company reported several boats busy dropping boats from the upper pools to the harbor and arranging matters for a possible rise at Pittsburg. The combine has about 25,000,000 bushels of coal loaded for shipment South.

The most enormous raft on record reached St. Louis yesterday from the upper Mississippi. It contains 5,500,000 feet of lumber, and was towed down by the Saturn and Pathfinder. In charge of Captain Geo. Winans. The raft left Stillwater, Minn., June 10th, and its time is best on record for a large raft.

The use of oil as fuel in steamers reduces the force in the boiler and fire room 80 per cent. The steamship Washtenaw is now loading a cargo of salmon at Astoria, Ore., for New York direct. The Washtenaw has been driven out of the collier trade by the use of oil as fuel in the steamships on the northwest coast of America, and she goes to New York to be converted into a tank oil steamer. Twenty years ago all salmon from the Pacific coast went by the ocean route, but the carriers changed to railway, and for some years past the salmon shipment have been wholly by rail. Astoria is near the mouth of the Columbia river, and was established in 1813 as a trading post by John Jacob Astor. It was an interesting post for many years, and it figures prominently in the early settlement of the great Northwest.

HIS GRATITUDE.

NOVEL METHOD AN ENGLISHMAN ADOPTED TO SHOW HIS APPRECIATION.

Some time ago an Englishman named John Charlesworth was in Paducah and while here was well treated by Mr. John Counts, of the Red Rock saloon, Mr. James Sherrell and others. When he left he said he would not forget the courtesies shown him, and yesterday Mr. Counts and others received a copy of the Manchester Evening Chronicle, published in the Englishman's home town, containing the following notice:

"Any Englishman passing through Paducah, Kentucky, will do well to call on James Sherrell of Sherrell's hotel; also George Goodman, of Goodman's hotel, where they will be well treated and receive the best product of the states."

This is perhaps one of the most unique advertisements Paducah ever received.

DAWSON SELECTED.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL PICNIC COMMITTEE AOTS—EIGHTEEN COACHES.

The Illinois Central picnic committee met last night and decided on Dawson for the place for holding the picnic. The date is left to the Illinois Central and will have to be fixed by the higher officials.

The committee has asked for eighteen coaches and at tomorrow night's meeting the coach question will be settled. The colored employees want three coaches and will be dropped off at Princeton where the colored men will celebrate. The music arrangements will also be made Wednesday night. Last year and the year before the coaches were too few and the picnickers were greatly inconvenienced. It is the intention of the committee to prevent it this year, if possible, and to this end it has asked for more coaches.

SMALL CROWD

THREATENING WEATHER REDUCES THE ST. JOHN'S DAY PARTY.

There were few Masons to go out to Benton this morning to attend the St. John day celebration. The following left on the morning train, with Dean's band:

Rev. George W. Briggs, who will deliver an address; E. R. Lemon, John K. Hendrick, O. C. Lee, Geo. Oliver. The Paducah visitors will return on the afternoon train and also will the band in order to get back in time to attend the Pompeii show.

Paine's Celery Compound

DR. PHELPS'

Wonder - Working Medical Prescription.

Mrs. Jennie H. Steele, Says:
"I Feel That It Has Saved My Life."

Paine's Celery Compound is the world's great leading medicine and life saver. It has no equal for feeding exhausted nerves; it stands first as a builder of the weak and shattered nervous system.

Paine's Celery Compound has long ago proved its powers as a banisher of dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney disease, liver complaint and as a purifier of the blood. Thousands of men and women, tired out, sleepless, nervous, morose, and despondent, have been given perfect health, strength, and buoyancy of spirits through the well advised use of Paine's Celery Compound. It has given a new and happy life to a vast number of people who were tired of life and suffering.

If your health is impaired; if you are burdened with any weakening or painful malady, use Paine's Celery Compound today; it is specially adapted for your case; it will make you well and strong. Mrs. Jennie H. Steele, Vaughns, Ga., writes thus: "I have suffered for ten years with what the doctors call neuralgia of the liver, and never had any relief from their medicines or anything else until I began using Paine's Celery Compound. I have taken about three bottles and have not suffered any since I first began to take it. I feel that it has saved my life, and hope all who suffer as I have will give Paine's Celery Compound a trial."

CLOSE CALL.

CONDUCTOR HAYS COMES NEAR BEING KILLED IN HIS CABOOSE.

Conductor Sam Hays, of Jackson, Tenn., came near being killed yesterday at Fulton on the Illinois Central. A misplaced switch caused a train to "sidewipe" his train and the caboose in which Conductor Hays was seated was knocked off the trucks and turned over. He escaped with a painful injury to a leg as he crawled out a window.

HOW TO BE MISERABLE.

A philosopher offers the following excellent rules for those who yearn to be miserable and make others equally unhappy:

If you wish to be miserable, sit down and imagine you are worse off than any one else.

Compare your circumstances in life with those of your wealthy neighbor and wish you were in his place.

Don't thank any one who does you a kind deed, but blame him for not doing more.

If there are any poor and suffering about you, don't lift a finger to help them, but let some one else look after them.

Grumble about the weather and think you could make it better.

Never speak a kind word to a child, but forget that you were one yourself.

Don't give to any charitable object, but save all your money; you may need it some time.

Never smile if you can help it, but frown on every one you meet.

Don't feel obliged to work, but feel that the world owes you a living.

Choose for your associates those who are as near like yourself as possible, and see how much sunshine you can keep out of other people's lives.

If you follow strictly all these rules you will surely be miserable yourself and help to make other people so.

A SPLENDID REMEDY.

Neuralgic pains, rheumatism, lumbago and sciatic pains yield to the penetrating influence of Ballard's Snow Liniment. It penetrates to the nerves and bone, and being absorbed into the blood, its healing properties are conveyed to every part of the body and effect some wonderful cures. Mr. D. F. Moore, agent Illinois Central, Milan, Tenn., states: I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment for rheumatism, backache, etc., in my family. It is a splendid remedy. We could not do without it." 25c, 50c and $1 at DuBois Kolb and Co.

ECONOMY OF HAVING

TRUST COMPANIES ACT AS EXECUTOR.

A trust company receives exactly the same commission as an individual when it serves as an executor or administrator, yet it brings to the management of an estate the combined experiences of several men of great ability in financing and management, instead of that of a single individual.

A trust company, being a permanent institution, there is no danger from deaths like there is in the management by an individual. A trust company, also, has its own strong vaults, burglar and fire proof, and offers every protection from fires and other dangers.

A trust company is in the position to secure better investments than a private individual, as this comes in its line of business, and it can usually find such investments quicker than an individual could. A trust company for the same reason is in a better position to dispose of any property if it should be advisable to do so.

The Globe Bank and Trust Co., besides doing a trust company business, does a general banking business and pays interest on time deposits. Office 306 Broadway.

DAILY THOUGHT.

The corner stone of character, that on which the whole edifice is to rest, must be truth. Be truthful in word and deed and act, faithful to your conception of right, and you can no more help building a noble character than the earth can help moving in its orbit.

—Success.

THE WEATHER.

Partly cloudy tonight and warmer, with probable showers in the northern portion. Wednesday, showers.

The yellow journals are making desperate efforts to kill King Edward off before he is crowned day after tomorrow.

The "human bomb" was all right, but we have a lot of home products of the "bum" variety that we should like to send straight up and keep up.

A Bowling Green man threw a stove lid at his wife and killed his mother-in-law. It was either another case of mother-in-law always being in the way or else of beastly bad marksmanship.

There will be little in the papers for the next few days but the coronation. It is to be one of the events of the century, no doubt, and all the papers and magazines are vying with each other to get the best reports and pictures. There are thousands of Americans in London to witness the ceremonies.

It looks as if all the Democrats connected directly or indirectly with the administration office stealers at Frankfort are out after pie. Every day brings forth the announcement of some new aspirant to high office. There is at least one consolation. All of them can't break in.

The city has a street sweeper and plenty of men to operate it. The present filthy condition of Broadway is inexcusable, and a disgrace to the city. It shows gross negligence on part of some one, especially at this time, when many strangers are expected to attend the spectacular production that is here for a week. Broadway ought to be swept every night.

Grover Cleveland has reached the third-term-discussion stage of the present political agitation. He does not believe that precedent would forbid his being President again, but precedent is not the only thing he has to reckon with. Mr. Cleveland, before he could be President again, would first have to lick a large hunk of his own party and then stack up against the Republican party.

Judge Sanders deserves the thanks of the community for enforcing the cruelty to animals ordinance. There are too many wagons overloaded in Paducah, especially on the wharf. An officer can go down Broadway most any time in the day and make from one to a dozen arrests for inhuman treatment to animals. A man fined yesterday was trying to make one horse pull over 5,000 pounds of iron. There ought to be a law against permitting such creatures to drive even a wooden horse.

The mayor of Zanesville, O., has been leading a rather strenuous life of late. He is evidently not so much as he fondly imagines, for yesterday when he attempted to compel the police judge to dismiss a warrant for drunkenness against a woman, he was by special request of the judge forcibly ejected from the court room by the chief of police, but not until after the latter had been given an upper cut on the jaw by the doctory mayor, and the chief in turn had landed on the mayor's head with a club. The mayor extended a cordial invitation to the police minion to come out and have another round, but he declined. At last accounts there had been no further agitation, and the judge was still holding police court at the old stand.

The board of equalization of Polk county, Tenn., seems to have done its duty with a vengeance at the last sitting. The Troy News-Banner says of it: "Most of the county equalization boards are mere knots on sticks who make a few changes more just to seem to have earned their salaries than for aught else. But the board in Polk, Tennessee's southeasternmost county, did not take that view of it. The tax rate had been $1.30, and they wanted it lessened. So they put on their nerves, raised the Tennessee Copper company from $400,000 to $450,000, the D. S. C. and I. company from $400,000 to $425,000, and then put a raise of $245,000 on the other taxpayers."

It is a good thing that slanderers of the army do not all reside near Knoxville, Tenn. They had a garden party there the other night, and some yokel with a little discretion as patriotism declared that "two-thirds of the American soldiers who went to the Philippines were hoodlums, and the other third were cowards and bullies." He reckoned without his host. Among his hearers was Lincoln Monday, a survivor of the massacre of Company O at Balangiga, Samar, who straightway gave him the lie. A fight with pocket knives ensued, and the following is the result: The dead, John Kennedy, aged 45; the injured, Alonzo Barger, stabbed twenty times and cannot recover; Charles Hobbs, badly cut about the face, neck and breast; Lincoln Monday, stabbed, jugular vein almost severed.

One by one the time honored fallacies of past generations are being scientifically exploded by modern research. It has just been proven in a Louisville court that the old belief that some people's minds are affected by the moon, as are the tides or the weather, is without reason. A case is on trial in which it is sought to break a will by proving that the testator was not of sound mind, because his mind was affected by the moon. He was "moon-struck," some of his relatives declared, but scientific men have been placed on the witness stand and solemnly asseverated that the theory of fair Luna influencing the minds of men is founded on ignorance and superstition, and that the origin of "lunatic" with our forefathers was due to an absurd hallucination. This is all very regrettable, because it does away with some people's only excuse for being foolish.

A COOL 'UN.

WHY GARDENER KELLER WAS COOL AFTER THE WRECK.

Mr. W. A. Keller, the Illinois Central gardener, who is in the city today, claims the distinction of having been the coolest man in a big wreck some time ago.

He was running into Paducah from Louisville to do a little work here and before his destination was reached a freight train ran into the passenger on which he was riding. Mr. Keller was tossed from one end of the coach to the other and was landed against the water cooler, which was turned over on him. He was drenched to the skin and when Paducah was reached began boasting of his coolness during that wreck and never since has ceased.

Mr. Keller is now working with the depot hospital yard flower beds. He has arranged what he calls a Brussels carpet flower bed in the depot lawn and when it is in full bloom says nothing in the flower line can beat it. He has worked many beautiful figures in the bed in regular order and when the bed is properly cut looks like a real carpet. One end is rolled up to make the resemblance more marked.

CUTTING AT REELFOOT.

Union City, June 24.—There was quite a serious cutting affray at Samburg, on Reelfoot Lake, Saturday night. Bose Hutchcraft, and Mat Wallace got into a difficulty with Jim Kasacker, and it is said that the latter knocked down both of his opponents. In the mix-up Hutchcraft cut Kasacker on the back of the neck, inflicting a serious wound.

until a great height, when there is an explosion, and he descends in a parachute, illuminated by a red light. This feature will be witnessed again Wednesday and Friday nights.

The "Last Days of Pompeii," under the management of Prof. Raymond, is certainly worth coming miles to see. It is better than a circus, first class vaudeville performance and spectacular exhibition combined, and is the biggest thing ever seen in Kentucky. The fireworks display alone is worth double the price of admission.

The hippodrome contests, serpentine dances, acrobatic feats and grand marches make the spectacle a most fascinating one, and evoke the sincerest applause from the countless multitudes that witness it.

The music by Dean's band is a credit to the musicians, who have had little time to rehearse it. The production will be repeated each night at 8 o'clock and the attendance will increase every evening as the people more fully realize the magnitude of the entertainment. Paducah is the only city in Kentucky outside of Louisville able to secure it, and the prospects are for large crowds every night, from the city as well as surrounding places.

The crowds are well handled by the street car company and there is no drag about the performance. It is hoped that the engagement here will prove profitable as it well deserves to be. The people may never again have the chance outside of the large cities to see anything so wonderful and grand.

A METRICAL MEDLEY.

"One swallow doesn't make summer,"
O, the ground hog grunts to his honey, his love,
When the sun peeps out from the sky,
And the golden glitter of glory above
Gives the promise of spring—by and by.
And the March hare blows
The white frost off his toes,
And wrinkles the skin on the end of his nose,
O, he's mad, just as mad can be.

The swallow comes up from his nest in the South,
And he hops in the cottonwood tree;
He brings the magnolia leaf in his mouth,
And he sings us his song full of glee.
The humming birds hum
And the bumblebees hum,
And everyone reckons the Summer has come,
Just as sure as sure can be.

The blossoms are blooming, the buds are all out,
And sparkle with warm April showers;
The Summer is here, there is no room for doubt,
For the earth is all covered with flowers.
The Queen of the May
Has come out to play,
But shivers and shakes in her garlands so gay—
And wishes she had on her furs.
—Frederick Boyd Stevenson, in Pearson's.

Next Year.

"Bout next year,"
They always say,
"All your griefs
Will melt away;
All the skies
Will then be blue;
All your wishes
Will come true,
Luck your trouble way will clear—
'Bout next year."

We will do
The things we've planned,
Mysteries
We'll understand,
We will grasp
The shining prize
That is dancing
'Fore our eyes,
Discontent will disappear—
'Bout next year.

Summer shine
An' wintry snow
Swiftly come
An' swiftly go.
Suddenly
You breathe a sigh,
Countin' up
The days gone by.
Still hope whispers: "Persevere
Till next year."
—Washington Star.

You kin talk about yoh sorrow,
You kin kick about yoh grief;
But it ain' no use to borrow
Trouble. Dat won' bring relief.
You must face the changin' seasons;
So don' complain no doubt,
You war put on earth for reasons,
An' dar ain' no backin' out.

De winter's mighty chilly
An' de summer's mighty hot,
De roads is long an' hilly,
An' dar ain' no restin' spot.
But, honey, don't be tearful,
Jee' let yoh heart be stout,
You might as well be cheerful,
'Case dar ain' no backin' out.
—Washington Star.

Playing the Years Away.
He played with me, long years ago,
And as we romped and ran
I liked to make believe that I
Had grown to be a man.

My little one and I play now,
As he and I did then,
And as we romp I make believe
That I'm a boy again.

All de mo'nin' long,
'Cept it wakes me early,
'Case hits done in song.

Anybody wot kin'
Wanta to sleep ex late
Es de folks'll 'low him,
An' I wish to state
'Case dis ain't no scattah,
But 'twist me an' you!
I could stan' de bedclothes,
Kin' o' lath, too.

'Tain't my nat'chal feelin',
Dis hyeah mopin' spell,
I stan' a early risin'
Mos'ly moughty well;
But de v'y minute,
I feel Ap'li's heat,
Bless yo' soul, de bedclothes
Nevah seemed so sweet.

Mastah, he's a scoll'in',
'Case de han' is slow,
All de hosses balkin',
Jes' can't mek 'em go,
Don' know what's de mattah,
Hit's a funny thing,
Less'n hit's de fevah
Dat you gits in spring.

—Paul Laurence Dunbar, in Saturday Evening Post.

A Case of Insomnia.

There he twisted and he screamed, and his mammy didn't know
Wherefore his woe,
—Just a little six months' baby in a city
tenement—
There were half a dozen others and but little time was spent
In maternal diagnosis of the little shaver's
case,
So he hollered nights and daytimes till the neighbors round the place,
By the squealings and the squallings of the youngster driven wild,
Told the mother she must summon a physician for the child.

Well, she grumbled at the mandate, but at last the mammy did
As she was bid.
And a bluff and busy doctor, very saggy,
very curly,

Came and keenly made a survey of that atom masked in dirt.
—Spent exactly 30 seconds in a study of the
case;
Then he shouted to the mammy: "Take a rag and wash his face!
Youngster's wild for want o' sleep, ma'am
—that's the reason why he cries,
But his mug's so thund'rin' dirty that he cannot shut his eyes."
Simple thing! And yet the doctor won the neighbors' grateful praise;
—Youngster dropped asleep at once, sir,
and he slumbered three whole days.

Have Charity.

Have charity for others' views,
And do not think you're always right
And everybody else is wrong.
If they see things not in your light,
God gave us all our different views,
To best develop each one's soul,
And though we tread not the same path,
We still may reach the same blest goal.

Forbearance with each other try,
Have charity for others' views;
Forbearance, love and charity,
A wondrous power will infuse
Into the heart, and make the world
Seem like a much more joyous place,
They'll scatter sunshine all around,
And brighten every happy face.

It was Christ's lesson here on earth—
Have charity for all mankind,
And not unjustly to condemn,
But help the weak, the poor and blind,
And try to teach Christ's better ways,
With purest thoughts e'er fill the mind;
By thus developing the soul,
Life's greatest blessings we shall find.
—Martha Shepard Lippincott, in Boston Budget.

Little Bennie's Visit to Grandpa's.
I been visitin' my grandpa
For about a week or so;
He's got a pretty garden,
Where all kinds of flowers grow,
'N he's got fields 'n orchards,
That are full of rows of trees,
'N down behind the house there's lots
Of boxes full of bees.

He let me hoe the garden,
'N he let me milk the cow;
I learned to do it splendid,
Soon as grandpa showed me how;
He let me drive the horses,
'N he let me climb the trees,
But every day he told me I
Must not go near the bees.

One time he wazn't lookin',
So I went down behind
The house to see the boxes,
And now I'm nearly blind,
And when I put my shirt on
I pull it past my knees—
I wonder how dear grandpa knows
I monkeyed with the bees?

England's North American Territory
The British possessions in North America and the West Indies are larger than the territory of the United States of America, including Porto Rico and Alaska. On the North American continent alone, King Edward's possessions are nearly 100,000 square miles larger than those of the United States, and, taking the West Indies and Newfoundland, more than 200,000 square miles larger.—Geographical Journal.

Pre-Inventory Sale AT THE ARCADE All This Week.

Preparatory to taking stock, we will all this week make a slash-breaking, price-cutting sale on everything in the store. 'A STUDY ..In.. SCARLET'

It is one of the most wonderful of detective stories, and will begin in next Wednesday's issue of THE SUN.

This story is by A. Conan Doyle, in which that most wonderful fiction character, "Sherlock Holmes," made his first appearance. It is a good story, and will, we believe, meet with the approval of our readers.

The program is quite a lengthy one, and very interesting. There is to be a large crowd in attendance, Presiding Elder H. B. Johnston, is expected to go down tomorrow.

LIT HIS PIPE.

AND THE TURPENTINE SOAKED RAGS COOKED HIS WOUNDS.

Mr. Alex Storrie, the grocer, several days ago, injured two fingers while experimenting with a buzz fan going at full speed, and after binding them with cloths well saturated with turpentine, lighted his pipe.

The turpentine caught fire from the match and in a second his fingers were aflame. He jammed them in his pockets and everywhere else but his mouth, and was painfully burned before he could jerk the rags off his hand. He will hereafter swear off smoking when under the turpentine treatment.

POTTERY WANTS

A LOCATION.

METROPOLIS IS HOT AFTER IT AND CLAIMS SHE WILL LAND.

The Metropolis papers claim that a $20,000 pottery wants a location, and that Paducah is trying to get it, and so is Metropolis. The mayor there, it is understood, has given the owners an option on clay banks and in addition made other concessions that it is believed will land it. So far as is known nothing is known here of the supposed pottery.

PADUCAH DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

BISHOP HOSS TO PRESIDE OVER IT IN JULY AT BARDWELL.

Bishop E. E. Hoss of Nashville, Tenn., has written to Rev. H. B. Johnston, presiding elder of the Paducah district, that he will be present at Bardwell July 29-31, and preside over the Paducah District Conference in session there.

Bishop Hoss was elected at the recent session of the General Conference at Dallas, Texas, and is one of the foremost men in the M. E. church, south, and is a fine preacher. Presiding Elder Johnston considers himself fortunate to have secured him, as it is not always easy to have a bishop for the District Conference.

Bishop Hoss will preside over the Memphis Conference at Paris, Tenn., in November, and doubtless wishes to familiarize himself with the conference through its district meetings.

NEW SECRETARY

WILL BE ELECTED FOR THE KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION.

At the Kentucky Press meeting last year Secretary Bob Morningstar announced that he would not again be a candidate for the position he has filled for several years. Already there are prospects of a lively contest for the place. Mr. Sam S. English, a young Louisville journalist, has entered the race and has secured many promises of support. Other editors being mentioned are James Wallace, of Warsaw; Charlie Hart, of Morganfield, and Irvin S. Cobb, of Paducah. Will A. Wilgus, an honorary member of the association, may also be forced into the contest by his friends.—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

TRIBUTE TO THE IRISH

PAID BY LORD KITCHENER ON HIS ARRIVAL AT CAPE TOWN.

Cape Town, June 24—Lord Kitchener received a great public ovation on his arrival here this morning. The town was decorated, the streets were lined with troops and the mayor and corporation welcomed the British commander at the town hall and presented him with an address. During his reply Lord Kitchener, referring to the country of his nativity, paid a special tribute to the service of the Irish troops during the war in South Africa.

One of the accused was Bob Hayes of Paducah. The men will rejoin the show at once.

—The Little Leaves.
The little leaves are peeping out
Where others peeped a year ago,
And they will swing and sway about
While summer breezes sweetly blow.

They'll feel the patter of the rain
And gladly gladden in the sun;
They'll shade our paths and not complain,
Their duties will be gladly done.

Each little leaf that struggles through
A happy bud upon the bough
Knows well what it is sent to do,
And will not wait to question how.

And other, stronger leaves will ne'er
Go greedily to tear it loose
And fiercely crowd it out from where God kindly lets it be of use.

—S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.

—The Gladness of Spring.
When spring, with blossom-haunted lanes,
With sudden gusts of rippling rain,
Came dancing down the glad young year,
How soon my heart forgot its fear!

And when I heard the lyric note
That floated from the robin's throat,
How soon the sad song in my breast
Sought a deep silence, a deep rest.

Now who had dreamed the April rain
Could cleanse a heart of all its pain?
And who had thought one little bird
Could hush a soul's discordant word?

—Charles Hanson Towne, in Woman's Home Companion.

—Don't Worry.
What's the use of fretting?
If you've troubles, try forgetting.
Take things easy—praise or blame—
The world will wait on just the same.

What's the difference, anyhow,
A hundred years from now?
Don't anticipate your sorrow.
When it comes no need to borrow.

Get your sleep out, troubled one.
You cannot rush the slow old sun.
So let the seasons come and go,
Bringing with them weal or woe.

Use the moments as they fly,
Nor try to help them hasten by.
In life's long race you needn't hurry.
And if you'd win it don't—don't worry!

—Chicago Daily Tribune.

—The Letter.
Pure as the page whereon you write
Be all the words you send—
Stars of remembrance in the night
Of absence—to your friend.

And whether it be rhyme or prose,
So fashion what you say
That were it written on a rose
More sweet would be the day.

—Frank Dempster, in Youth's Companion.

RIPANS TABULES

while not mysterious or miraculous in its curative qualities, is a simple formula prescribed by the best physicians for disorders of the digestive organs. Just little Tabules, easy to take, easy to buy and quick to act. If your trouble is Dyspepsia, Bilioussness, Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Heartburn, and the like, no need of calling a physician. Ripans Tabules contain exactly what he would tell you to take. Permanent cure follows a fair trial. No uncertainty about it.

ONE GIVES RELIEF.

There is scarcely any condition of ill health that is not benefited by the occasional use of a R. I. P. A. S. Tabule, and the price, ten for five cents, does not bar them from any home or justify any one in enduring ill health that can be easily cured. A family bottle containing 30 tablets is sold for 50 cents. For children this chocolate coated tablet, 10 for 25 cents, are recommended. For sale by druggists.

PROP

POESIES OF THE POETS.

Love's Labor Lost.
She went three years to boarding school
Away down east somewhere;
She was the only daughter of
A proud old millionaire.
It cost three thousand dollars per,
But daddy, being fond of her,
Put up and didn't care.

She studied music in Berlin
And also in Paris,
And pa was fond of boasting of
The artist she would be.
She spent three years abroad, and then,
One day, came sailing home again
To grace societies.

Pa bought a grand piano; oh
How she could play the thing!
It seemed as easy as you please
For her to break a string—
Ah, yes, it was a treat to sit
And hear her rip things out of it—
Moreover, she could sing!

She fell in love, as maidens will,
And what did daddy say?
He stormed around outrageously,
Wherefore she ran away!
Her hubby gets ten dollars per
And might afford to buy for her
A few sharp she could play.
—S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Times-Herald.

An April Shower.
Hark! hear the warm rain falling
From April's changeable skies;
The wild flowers in the woodlands
Laugh out in sweet surprise,
As, wakened from their dreaming
Beneath the last year's leaves,
They see on hill and meadow
The web the springtime weaves.

The robin in the maple
Sings fitfully and low,
As if but half remembered
The song he used to know;
His little heart is happy,
As from his burnished wing,
In pauses of his singing,
He shakes the rain of spring.

The buds on elm and willow
Seem growing as we look;
Spring legends are repeated
By every breeze and brook.
The air is full of fragrance,
The sky is brighter blue;
One hour of April weather
Has made the old world new.

—Eben E. Rexford, in Golden Days.

The Unfailing Consolation.
How beautiful to be dead!
Where nothing dreams or grieves,
To lie where sunshine weaves
The shadows of the leaves
Above my head.

How beautiful to be dead!
The anguish to forget,
The turmoil and the fret,
The sharpness of regret—
All calm instead.
How graceful to be dead!

How beautiful to be dead!
To be alone again,
Safe from the struggle vain,
The tired, impatient pain,
The noises overhead.
How peaceful to be dead!

How beautiful to be dead!
Life, I have borne these long,
But all thy strife and wrong,
Some day shall melt to song,
And then be fled.
Some day I shall be dead.
—Samantha Whipple Shoup, in N. Y. Independent.

Jim and Joe.
Says Jim: "There's Joe;
I wouldn't be
Like him, you know,
For I kin see
Mistakes he's made.
I'll let you know
There'd be a change,
If I was Joe!"

Says Joe: "There's Jim;
I wouldn't make
Mistakes like him.
For mercy's sake!
They're plain enough
To all but him.
There'd be a change
If I was Jim!"

When God made this Old world He gave
To Jim an' Joe
A place to live;
But no one sense
It's come to pass
Has furnished 'em
A lookin' glass.

The Little of the Field.
It is not ours to bask in sheltered spaces
And sunlit borders down the garden wall,
Nor feel, like night-dews on our lifted feathers,
The tinkling fountain's wind-blown waters fall.

We are but field flowers, set unkemp, un-tended,
In careless clusters 'mid the grasses
blithe,
The oxen's hoofs trample us down un-
fended,
Nor can our sweetness stay to-morrow's scythe.

Yet we are blest above the queenly
roses—
Unmarked to grow, to wither all unvest,
Then when on earth our little lifetime
closes,
To bloom immortal in the Master's text.
—William Hervey Woods, in Youth's Companion.

The Little Ills.
He used to chide his wife because
She grieved over small affairs;
"My dear," he'd say, "keep back your tears
For more important cares.
"Pass over the petty ills that serve
To vex the foolish who,
When great ills come, have not the strength
They need to bear them through!"

"I never fret over little things,
But brush them all away,
Remembering past pleasures through
The trifles of to-day!"

But yesterday he filled the air
With horrid sounds of woe,
Because a throbbing little spot
Was on his little toe.
—S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Times-Herald.

Prayer.
Weary and worn, by toll outdone,
Humble and broken, bowed, depressed;
No battle gained, the fight not won,
I come to Thee for rest.

And Thou wilt nowise cast me out,
Although I come not till I need;
Unto the humble soul without
Thou givest heed.

Give me Thine aid and grace to see,
Make me to feel and know at length,
To cast my pride and call on Thee—
This weakness is my strength.
—Atlanta Constitution.

The Point of View.
When on the curb you waiting stand
And see the gripman wave his hand,
And pass you by, you rage in vain
In anger at his rude disdain.

FROM BROOKPORT.

A FEW MATTERS OF INTEREST TO THE PUBLIC REPORTED.

Brookport, Ill., June 24—Mr.
Mitchell Wood and Miss Nora Jackson were married in a buggy at Union-ville a few days ago. They secured a license and drove over where their favorite minister was holding a meeting, being united while sitting in the buggy.

Mr. John May who came here from Virginia about eight months ago and went into business, having built up a good trade, died here a day or two ago.

WHY THEY MARRIED.

An editor sent out circular letters to a large number of married men subscribers and asked them why they married. Here are some of the answers:

I didn't intend to do it.
Because I did not have the experience I have now.

Married to get even with her mother, but never have.

That's what I've been trying for eleven years to find out.

I yearned for company. Now we have it all the time.

I thought it would be cheaper than a breach of promise suit.

Because Sarah told me that five other men had proposed to her.

That's the same fool question my friends ask me.

I wanted a companion of the opposite sex. N. B.—She is still opposite.

The old man was going to give me his foot, so I took his daughter's hand.

Because I asked her to have me she said she would; I think she's got me.

Because I thought she was one among a thousand; now I think she is a thousand among one.

I was lonesome and melancholy and wanted some one to make me lively.
She makes me very lively.

Have exhausted all the figures in the arithmetic to find an answer to your question; between multiplication and division in the family and distraction in addition the answer is hard to arrive at.

CONSTIPATED BOWELS.

To have good health, the body should be kept in a laxative condition and the bowels moved at least once a day, so that all the poisonous wastes are expelled daily. Mr. G. L. Ed-

Kansas, writes: "I have used Herbine to regulate the liver and bowels for the past ten years, and found it a reliable remedy." 50c at DuBois,

OFFICE SEEKING.

I want a-office seekin'. I had allers thought till then
That I was one o' these general average sort of men.
But my friends they took the matter up. They showed me as a prize,
I felt jes' like an angel that had wandered from the skies.
An' then the other fellers got to work; an' I turned pale.
Expectin' any minute to be carried off to jail.
I never broke the law, nor captured no dishonest peif.
But jes' the same, they made me right suspicious of myself.
I never was no dandy; but on lookin' in the glass
Jes' after Mandy cut my hair, I kind o' thought I'd pass—
But when my managers got out my campaign pictures—well,
You couldn't tell the difference 'tween me and Beau Brummell.
But when the opposition took a-hold they made me look
Like some fierce combination of a hayseed an' a crook.
One day I'm so conceited that my manners is a frost.
An' the next day I'm as humble as a yaller dog that's lost.

Where the Man with the Hoe Won

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

It doesn't often happen, and no one I saw a favored few knew why it happened this time. There is a little sunburn in this story, but no varnish, and let those who like a lequered tale turn the page. She was a bud last winter and this winter she was married. Most of the buds stay on the stem a little longer than that, but considering how many there were who wanted her, the quick plucking and bearing away is not to be wondered at in anything save in the personality of the flower lover who did the picking.

Frances Marvin's father had no money, but he held a place in society by force of intellect and family. There are not as many of those cases as there used to be. The girl was a beauty. If a novel writer were telling about her he would say she was regal. James Parker, stock broker, was not a novel writer, but he thought Frances was regal, nevertheless. He had a thought of this kind from the moment he saw her. Parker followed Miss Marvin's movements as closely as he did the tape in the stock ticker. He was a member of every club in sight, and he drove and rode, and did all the other things that a man of wealth in society does when he knows how.

James Parker was a catch. Everybody said so, and the fact was pretty strongly impressed upon the Marvin family, but Marvin pere, who didn't care whether Parker was a catch or not, for Frances was to be allowed to make her own choice. Parker became the girl's shadow. He paid court, however, unobtrusively and with perfect tact. Frances was flattered a bit by the attentions of this man, for whom all the other girls had made a cast, to use a piscatorial simile, and had failed to get a strike.

Now, there was as well as James Parker one John Meadowcroft. Meadowcroft had a big truck farm out beyond Bowmanville. Curious thing, but Meadowcroft worked his farm himself. He was a big fellow, something more than a trifle awkward, but with a fine head and a good face. He had an education and no capital except that which was represented by some acres of onion, carrot and potato beds and some hundreds of square feet of glass, under which the roses and carnations reached perfection when the winter blasts howl and the optimistic snow bunting whistles in the fields. John Meadowcroft was a graduate of the Amherst agricultural college. Just what had turned him to farming people did not generally understand. A good guess would have made it that Meadowcroft loved the country better than the town and took to gardening so that he could live at all times where he could smell the soil and see some clouds besides those of smoke drifting by.

One summer day a number of young people drove out beyond Bowmanville to see the massed color and beauty of a great field of flowers, which the newspapers had made pictures of and written about: It was "the thing" to go out to that spot of loveliness during that month of blossoms. It was there that Frances Marvin first saw John Meadowcroft, farmer. He had a pretty place for a home. It was naturally pretty, and John Meadowcroft knew how to enhance its attractiveness. James Parker was there that day, and being a man of acumen and worldly wisdom he saw that Meadowcroft, the farmer, thought that Frances Marvin was more to be admired than any flower of his field; love them all though he did, from the tiniest blossom to the big flaunting peony.

Meadowcroft had friends in the city. They were of some of the good old New England stock, who in their earlier days had known his father and mother. Meadowcroft had a way of overcoming obstacles. His friends say that some day he will be growing green chrysanthemums, and will do it without feeding the earth with dyes. At any rate, he met Miss Marvin again and then again. She was rather amused than otherwise at the attentions of this "farmer man," as her mother called him. There is something in sincerity that wins a way in all kinds of things, and finally Frances Marvin grew to like John Meadowcroft.

One day Frances had been shopping with her mother. They had no carriage, and the street cars were luxurious enough for them. They met James Parker, and he walked with them when the shopping was done. It was one of those afternoons when the sun and the general brightness of things can make even a walk in the smoky streets of Chicago pleasant. Parker suggested that they walk home. When they had reached the corner of South Water street their way as usual was barred by great sacks and boxes. Parker had had one or two reasons of late to actually look with just a suspicion of jealous apprehension at a certain farmer from Bowmanville. He could not forbear pointing with his cane, with a sort of a smile to make it appear that he considered it in the light of a joke, at some placards which appeared above the sacks and boxes at the South Water street corner. The pointing was hardly necessary, for Frances Marvin's quick eyes had caught their significance. This is what they read:

MEADOWCROFT'S MILD ONIONS.
MEADOWCROFT'S PRIME POTATOES.

People all had fixed that Frances Marvin was to marry James Parker. The girl half-way thought so herself. She knew that several times Parker was on the point of a declaration.

"Not yet," the girl had said to herself and she had averted diplomatically the crisis, though she was beginning to think one day it would come and she would say yes. Her mother urged her and her own knowledge told her of an easy future as the wife of a man who had what was needful and plenty more.

One day the board of managers of the Mortimer Pierce Hospital for Cripples held a meeting. Funds were needed and a number of the young women of society who were interested in the charity agreed to ask some of those whom they knew were well able to give to help along the cause. Frances Marvin was one of the soliciting committee. Perhaps the mother was wiser than most in her generation, for she suggested to Frances that they ask James Parker for a contribution. She and her mother went down-town and at the mother's suggestion went into the office of James Parker, stockholder. Mr. Parker wasn't in. The office boy, who was new and not up to snuff, said that Mr. Parker was in his other office further down the street. "You'll find him on the third floor at the corner," said the boy.

Mrs. Marvin and her daughter did not know that James Parker had two offices. They reached the third floor of the corner building. It was a dingy place and on a rather dirty glass door appeared "J. Parker, Loans." They entered. There was an ante-room with two smaller rooms beyond separated from the first by a glass partition. A boy told them to sit down and Mr. Parker would be at leisure in a few minutes. Then—they couldn't help it—they heard a conversation. The voices were those of a man and a woman, and the man's voice was that of James Parker. The conversation ran like this: "I can't help it, madam; ten percent, a month is what you agreed to pay and what you are bound to pay by this writing. You have already paid me, you say, an amount equal to the principal. That has nothing to do with it. If you can't pay you shouldn't borrow."

"We are in trouble at home, Mr. Parker, and I wish you could be a bit easy with us."

"You should have thought of all that before, madam. This debt is legitimate, and the law can't pick a hole in it. I want and must have my money or your furniture goes."

There was something like a dry sob from the inner room. With a common impulse Mrs. Marvin and her daughter rose and left the room, though not till each had placed a card before the office boy, saying, softly: "Tell him we were here." When they reached the street and were hurrying along as though to get away from a neighborhood of contamination, the girl said: "Mother, I have heard of such things, that men in business made much of their money in other businesses of which only a small part of the world knew anything. I did not know that Mr. Parker was one of these."

Some time after this a little party of people went to Bowmanville to see the flowers. John Meadowcroft met the visitors at the gate. He had a wounded squirrel in his hand. There was a tender solicitude in his eye as he examined the little animal and attended to its injuries. Miss Marvin thought of something else that had happened in a down-town office not long before. Something like a thought of comparison went through her mind, and not even the fact that a faint odor of onions came from the acres beyond the house could turn her from the full knowledge that here was the man.

People don't know yet how it came about, but just before Ash Wednesday some one who didn't know about it, quizzed James Parker about Frances Marvin, and asked when it was to be. "Don't you know," said Parker, and his face was a bit white. "She married the 'man with the hoe.'"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Ice Instead of Dynamite.
A notable quarrying feat was lately accomplished at the Rubislaw granite quarries, Aberdeen. A large stone had been drilled ready for splitting, when the thought struck the foreman that nature might aid in the object to be attained, the idea being suggested by the severe frost which prevailed. Water was poured into each of the drill holes, and it was found after a couple of days that the block of granite had completely burst open. An idea of the immense power of the frost will be gained when it is stated that the stone thus detached has a weight of about six tons.—Science.

WHAT OUR POETS SAY.

How Often We Forget!
We are too heedless of the little things
Done for our comfort by our own each day;
Too thoughtless of the cheek our lips
might kiss;
The grateful word—so short a word to say!

We notice not the tired feet hurrying
On our small errands; fail to heed the meek
Word of reproach, nor sicken with the thought
That at our blunders less kind lips might speak.

God trains His angels in our simple homes,
While we search skyward for the radiant wings;
And heaven's light plays about the patient souls
Who at our hearthstones daily toil and sing—
How often we forget, till dear tired hands
And tender watchful eyes
Weary of waiting for our tardy thanks
Slip into Paradise.

—Kate Whiting Patch, in Youth's Companion.

In Sunshine Land.
The days are long and bright and fair.
The skies are blue—in Sunshine Land!
No thought of grief can enter there,
No dream of death or pain or care,
And glad hearts never know despair.
A happy place is Sunshine Land.

Come, dear one; hand in hand we'll go
Across the hills to Sunshine Land.
It is not far, and well I know
The path that winds, now high, now low.
For when the summer breezes blow
Through fields a-flower, in Sunshine
Land.

Good night, old world! We're on the way
From all your woes, to Sunshine Land!
A smile of thanks our fare will pay;
To-day will soon be yesterday,
So we must hasten while we may
Through aisles of joy, to Sunshine Land!
—Jessie L. Field, in Farm and Home

An Old-Fashioned Woman.
No clever, brilliant thinker she,
With college record and degree,
She has not known the paths of fame,
The world has never heard her name.
Home is her kingdom, love her dower—
She seeks no other wand of power.
Around her childish hearts are twined,
As round some reverend saint enshrined,
And find all purity and good
In her divinely motherhood.
She keeps her faith unshadowed still—
God rules the earth in good and ill.
This sad old earth's a brighter place
All for the sunshine of her face;
Her very smile a blessing throws,
And hearts are happier where she goes.
A gentle, clear-eyed messenger,
To whisper love—thank God for her!
—L. M. Montgomery, in N. Y. Weekly.

A Test of Patience.
Perhaps in that millennial time
Which nations all await,
We'll bid farewell to every ill
And feel no fears of fate.

Your collar buttons won't get lost,
Your trousers will not bag;
The motorman will always stop
Whenever a car you flag.

Your shoe soles never will get thin,
Your buttons won't come off;
Your friends will always throw bouquets
And never stop to scoff.

It makes us smile whenever we think
Of all this comfort great—
And yet the solemn thought occurs:
It's very long to wait.
—Washington Star.

The Home Light.
The light of home's a wondrous light,
So tender is its shining,
So soft it follows through the night,
Our weary road outlining.

Though lonely and for years we roam,
Far from the ones we love us,
Yet ever shines the light of home,
Like God's grace spread above us.

The light of home's a wondrous light,
Through life it follows, seeming,
Yet when with age the hair is white,
Clear in the front 'tis gleaming.
It shines from where our loved ones are,
Oh, this is love's divining!
And through the gates of heaven ajar
At last we see it shining!

—Ripley D. Saunders, in N. Y. Weekly.

Poor Boy.
I see him pass and say: "Alas,
Poor boy!"
Not that he's of the hungry class,
Poor boy!

His face is neither thin nor pale,
I've heard him tell no moving tale
Of parents lying 'neath the grass,
Poor boy!

He's finely dressed, and yet I say:
"Poor boy!"
What gibes and taunts are flung his way,
Poor boy!

His foolish mother keeps his curls
Plunged o'er his shoulders like a girl's—
He's twelve years old if he's a day,
Poor boy!

—S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.

Ah, he is wise! When I appear
And give my views, he stays to hear!
He listens well to all I say—
Ah, yes! he walks in wisdom's way!

PLAN NOW FOR FOR COLORADO.

THE BURLINGTON'S EXTENSIVE SCHEME OF SUMMER TOURS.

The Burlington Route makes the most attractive excursion rates to Colorado Resorts that have ever been made. For long periods of the summer we make such remarkably low first-class round trip rates to Denver, Colorado Springs and Manitou, as $21.00 from St. Louis $15.00 from Kansas City, $25 from Chicago; good all summer; at other periods, only one fare plus $2.00 round trip.

CHEAP TO PACIFIC COAST, TOO.

May 27th to June 8th, August 2d to 8th. Round trip good 60 days, variable routes; from St. Louis $47.50, from Chicago $50 Missouri River $45.00; all lower than the one-way rate; only $11.00 more between Frisco and Portland; first-class, good in chair cars (seats free), standard sleepers or Through Tourists Sleeper Excursions. Chief Coast route, the Burlington to Denver, through Scenic Colorado, Salt Lake.

COOL MINNESOTA.

10,000 lakes; scores of coolest and best summer localities in the country; frequent periods of low Summer rates.

Apply to nearest Ticket Agent or write us of your proposed trip, whether to Colorado, Pacific Coast, Yellowstone Park, Minnesota, and let us advise you least cost and assist you.
